

Assessment of Gawadar Port with Chabahar Port:

By

¹Jaffar Khan, ²Muhammad Fida Bazai

Abstract:

Asian continent has been the verge of political and economic ground. It has the diversity of Geography and demography which attracts the global powers to attain political influence. Gawadar Port locating in Indian Ocean has gained the importance by its proximity to Strait of Hormuz, China has constructed it with collaboration of Pakistan to get connectivity to Middle East and Africa for the purpose of regional trade. On the other hand, Iranian Chabahar Port has co-opted by India to get access to Afghanistan and Central Asian states. The proximity of Gawadar Port and Chabahar Port has intensified the regional power struggle between China-Pakistan and India. The port of Gawadar has much edge over Chabahar port due its deep water capacity and capability of passing of large shipments.